Once upon a time, about 100 million years ago, there was a friendly dinosaur named Rexi.

Rexi loved to walk around the jungle and explore. Most of all, he loved to search for his favorite fruit, berries.

One day, Rexi found a huge berry bush filled with blueberries. Rexi was thrilled, but there was one tiny problem. A mouse was standing right beside the bush, and Rexi was scared of mice!

Rexi tried to go around the mouse, but wasn't able to reach the berries. Suddenly, the mouse said, "Hi there, I'm Jerry." Rexi was scared, but Jerry seemed to be very friendly. Jerry explained that he was protecting the berries from the birds. Rexi and Jerry then shared the berries and became good friends. They explored the jungle and looked out for each other.
