on saturday, my dad and i went to watch a basketball game. i had never been to an arena before and did not expect to see such a large crowd.

the arena was packed. we watched the los angeles lakers play. after the game, my father and i went to eat at chili's, which happens to be my dad's favorite restaurant.

at first, we had trouble finding the restaurant, so we called my mom who gave us the address: "81 mamba ave, los angeles, california," she said. eventually, we arrived, and to my amazement, my entire family was waiting for us there. it was such a fun surprise, and a wonderful way to end a great day!
